

2025-2026 Thomas Jefferson Scholarship Program (TJSP)

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The Thomas Jefferson Scholarship Program (TJSP) fosters economic growth and stable democratic development in Tunisia by creating a network of youth prepared to lead positive change in their professional fields and communities. TJSP focuses on leadership capacity and professional preparation for highly motivated and academically successful students, shaping future leaders from throughout Tunisia to contribute in a meaningful way to Tunisia's democratic and economic development. The Thomas Jefferson Scholarship Program is made possible by the generous support of the American people through the United States Department of State.

ACADEMIC PROGRAM

The 2025-2026 Thomas Jefferson Scholarship Program provides opportunities for highly motivated and academically successful undergraduate university/institute students from Tunisia for one academic year of full-time, non-degree study at accredited four-year colleges and universities in the United States. Students will attend four-year universities and colleges and will live in on-campus housing (dormitories). Participants may submit U.S. transcripts to their home institution for review upon completion of the program to determine if the credits are transferrable. The program will provide students a deeper understanding of the United States, as well as new skills, knowledge, and leadership development to help them contribute to Tunisia's economic growth. Participants may not choose their U.S. host university/college.

A broad range of academic fields of study are eligible, including humanities, social sciences, applied sciences, natural and physical sciences, arts, and other standard university fields of study. Students should identify their program field of study on their application. This field should be drawn from the standard undergraduate university/college curriculum within the United States. Please note that students may not enroll in clinical coursework while on the Thomas Jefferson Scholarship Program.

EXPERIENTIAL COMPONENTS

To support students in the development of the skills, knowledge, and leadership skills needed to build strong foundations for professional leadership success contributing to Tunisia's development, participants engage in experiential learning components in addition to their academic programs:

Cultural Engagement: To develop students' interpersonal and cross-cultural skills, participants will be required to give a minimum of one country presentation during their program; complete cross-cultural activities each semester; and develop a virtual cultural exchange activity.

Community Service: To expose students to the principles of community service and social responsibility in the United States, participants will be required to perform a minimum of 20 hours of community service with local organizations during their academic year.

Part-Time Internship: Internships provide an essential opportunity for participants to develop key personal soft skills and gain professional experience and skills that can be applied in their future careers in Tunisia. Program participants will be required to intern a total of 80 hours during their second semester; each participant's internship must be related to their program field of study.
